About Us

We are a dynamic team with our own migration stories, dedicated to helping foreign homeowners care for their luxury holiday properties. Beate, from Vienna and holding a Master's in Science, moved to the South of France in 2012 after extensive international experience. Isabel, originally from Germany, has lived in France for more than 15 years, from her work as a journalist in Paris to a life in the South. Our languages and personal experience help us understand our clients and guide them through language barriers and complex administration.

"What really sets them apart is their personal approach, the quality of execution and the attention to detail. With Ma Maison Provençale, you truly gain a trusted partner."
